The political polyscope scans a rather obscure horizon this week. The most momentous thing it discovers is a continued lack of interest in the forthcoming city election. Next week Friday is the time limit for the filing of momination papers and the coming seven days may reveal the aspirations of those who have not yet announced their intention of becoming candidates.

Dr. Blatz Discusses Parent-Child Relations At Education Course

The proper training of children was discussed on Monday night before a large audience at the first meeting of a new parent education course at the high school auditorium. Dr. William Blatz, who arranged the training program for the Dionne quintuplets, was the speaker. Less than one per cent of parents are properly trained in the art of bringing up children was the opinion expressed.

per cent of parents are properly trained in the art of bringing up children was the opinion expressed. Dr. Blatz, the author of "Five Sisters," is a member of the faculty of the University of Toronto and directed the training of the quintuplets from the age of six months to five years. He said he urged the return of the children to their parents from the beginning to permit them to live a normal life. He stated that Hitler prevents children from normal upbringing by taking them away from their parents and homes. The three essentials in the training of children stressed by Dr. Blatz are development of self-reliance, consideration of others, and social honesty. A baby should not be given a third choice by the interference of parents in the original choice—as for example a child has the choice of whether to cry or not to cry and when the parent picks him up a third choice is introduced. The same holds true with the problem of a child's food as to whether he eats it or not.

The resignation of Patrolman John W. Cavanaugh was announced on Tuesday by Chief of Police Michael T. Hughes. He was appointed to the regular force on April 23, 1937. The resignation makes a second vacancy in the local police force, the prior vacancy having been caused by the recent death of Patrolman John P. Murphy. Two other openings will soon result by the promotion of two patrolmen to the rank of sergeants.

An appeal to the State Department of Public Health to abate the nuisance from incessant fires at the Bemis dump in Watertown will be made by the Newtonville Citizens' Committee. The committee, formed for the purpose of eliminating the dump nuisance more than a year ago, contends that Watertown officials have failed to live up to an agreement to discontinue the depositing of combustible material in the dump.

Baker, D.D., executive vice-president of the American Unitarian Association, brought greetings from the national organization. Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Rev. Ray E. Eusden, D.D., of the Eliot Congregational Church, and Rev. Ernest S. Meredith of Watertown respectively brought messages of greeting from the city, other Newton churches, and neighboring communities, Professor Alfred S. Cole, a former pastor, spoke briefly. Frank H. Burt, one of the oldest members of the church, gave an interesing address on the early years of Channing Church.

Music was presented by the Channing Quartette under the direction of Miss Edith Blackadar, pianist. The quartette comprises, Mrs. A. J. Mansfield, soprano; Mrs. Eleanor Shute, contralto; Paul Bennett, tenor; and William Murdoch, bass.

Two hundred persons were present to hear an address by Congressman Thomas H. Eliot on Sunday evening which brought the anniversary observance to a close. Congressman Eliot spoke on "Liberalism—1941." A short devotional service was conducted by Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn.

"I was somewhat disturbed to find myself announced to speak on 'The Early History of Channing Church.' Why, the early history of this church was a sealed book when I first saw Newton. It was only sixty years ago that I came here to live, and its first thirty years were as unknown to me as the history of the cave dwellers of the far West. But since few of you have been here as long as I have, the period I remember may seem to most of those present as among 'the early years' of the church.

"Speaking of the cave dwellers, I am reminded that the first important study of their ancient homes in Arizona was the work of a man who grew up an attendant of Channing Church—Dr. Jesse H. Fewkes, a widely known ethnologist, whose brother Charles, I think, still lives in the family home.

in the same room, or that the church services were sometimes disturbed by the rumble of trains close in the rear of the building.

"There was a spirit about the old edifice that is impossible to express. It was a true house of worship, permeated with the traditions of those who built it. You have heard of their devotion to liberal religion which first took them to the old First Parish Church of Watertown and then led them to form 'the Unitarian Society at Newton Corner,' meeting in Union Hall until by common sacrifice and personal energy they built in 1856 their first church. Outgrown and crowded after only twenty-five years, when I came to Newton the society was completing the present church which tands today a memorial of the yourage and generosity of the founders.

stands today a memorial of the rourage and generosity of the rounders.

"Dr. Hornbrooke, who was in the second year of his ministry when I first heard him, was an outstanding figure as a scholar and orator. He was a student of the greatest and most mystical moets, active in the Browning Society and served it as president, yet he never went over the heads of his listeners. He drew his illustrations from incidents of everylay life. In sorrow and affliction he could always be counted upon to say the right word and lighten the heavy burden.

"I came here in the fall of 1881 from Springfield, where I had grown up in the Sunday-school of the Church of the Unity. Coming to Channing Sunday-school my first Sunday here, bringing my young sister Grace. I was cordially welcomed by W. Russell Brackett, who invited me to ioin his class. Mr. Brackett and his twin brother, Willard G. Brackett, were among the earliest members of the Sunday-school when it opened in 1852. He introduced me to the gray-bearded superintendent, Warren P. Tyler, who made me welcome and saw that my sister found a suitable class.

"The social life of the church centered around Cole's Hall, in the brick block near the railroad station. During the church year the sowing circle met there on certain. Thursday afternoons, followed by a simple supper for old and young and informal dancing until a reasonably early hour. On other Thursday evenings there were meetings of the Channing Literary Union, with plays, lectures and other features, the membership being divided into committees to arrange the programs. Before Christmas the boys and girls enjoyed friendly hours in preparing the evergreen decorations for the church.

and Mrs. Robert Rae, widow of a ormer pastor.

Early Years

When Samuel Lowry was a young member of the Eliot Congregational Church he started a Sunday School in the Nonantum section of Newton on June 2, 1861. This marked the beginning of the North Church. Meetings were held in stores and in the old Bemis railroad station. Increased efforts and support of members of the Eliot Church brought the formation of the North Evangelical Church of Newton in the summer of 1866. A plot of land on what is now Chapel st. was purchased and a small chapel built. Fire destroyed the original building and the present structure replaced it.

Builder Wants Newton Homes Pre-Fabricated

The development of prefabricated homes in the building industry has resulted in the filing of a petition before the Board of Aldermen seeking to permit hat type of construction in Newton. Benjamin Zakon, builder, is he signer of a petition seeking the change in the Newton building ode to allow for the stressed lywood covering principle of wall and floor construction. The principle used by the petitioner and he firm he represents is said to have been developed and formulated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The petition has been referred to the claims and rules committee which in turn has requested buildings. Commissioner Arthur ampbell to investigate the method of construction and report his indings. The present building ode requires frame construction. In the construction of prefabritated homes the walls and partitions are built in sections at the actory.

Newspaper Week Is Nation-Wide

The American press yesterday began the second annual observance of "Newspaper Week," from October 1 to 8, during which time publishers will call the attention of their readers to the vital part which the free press plays in the life of a nation. The slogan for the week, chosen by the Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., comprising executive officers of a number of national, state and regional newspaper publishers' associations is "The Newspaper Lights the Way to Freedom." Newspaper week is endorsed by President Roosevelt, other high government officials, governors of states, and leaders in religion, education and industry

It takes little imagination to realize that the newspaper is one of the many vertebrae forming the backbone of Democracy. Compare the free press of America with the controlled press of the totalitarian countries Compare the truly "free" press of America with those controlled by the influence of those who would use the printed word for their own selfish purposes, or those publications which prey upon the human weak-nesses of sensationalism and moral de-

The people of America are proud of the news mediums which are founded upon the ideals of community service, the promotion of better government, better social standards, and better living conditions for all—for those who have and for those who have The American press, that great mould not. er of public opinion is, for the most part, alive to its responsibilities to keep free from "foreign entanglements" which in the end wipe out the very freedom which is so vital to the pursuit of life, liberty and happiness.

The Incendiary Bomb Demonstration

On Tuesday evening Newton staged a demonstration of the proper methods and techniques to be used in the control and extinguishing of incendiary bombs. The demonstration also served as the most appropriate time to announce the award of graduation certificates to more than 1200 air wardens who voluntarily undertook to prepare themselves for possible future emergencies by enrolling in courses of study which were given this past summer.

It is rather a remarkable event when more than a thousand citizens enter with the greatest of co-operation into a service which for the most part seems so remote yet is so vitally serious. It not only speaks well for the community but augurs well for the easing of dire and terrifying tragedies which might well be enacted before our very eves in the not too far distant future. Newton obviously is making progress toward pre-paredness for the future. Working together is the solution of many problems—and in the defense of our city, its thousands of homes and citizens, the community spirit is evident—in the event of need it will not be found wanting.

The Church Is One Foundation

It happens this week that the anniversaries of two of our local churches have been appropriately observed. Last Sunday the Channing Unitarian Church completed a three day observance of its 90th birthday. This week Sunday the North Congregational Church completes the observance of its 75th anniversary. These are not, by many years, the oldest churches in our city. The First Church in Newton was founded in Newton Centre in 1654-two hundred and eighty seven years ago. And the Second Church, located in West Newton, was established in 1760—one hundred and eighty-one years ago. Yet the 90th and 75th anniversaries of these comparatively "youthful" religious centers is of worthy significance.

Freedom of worship was the main desire which sent a small band of pilgrims to these shores to establish a new nation. Down through the years the church has been one foundation. It will survive through the years to come. Sometimes in the complexities of life and midst the earthly cares and tribulations we lose sight of a great deal that is powerful and good. Religion becomes superficial-vet underneath-with no need for understanding—we come to the realization of an Infinite influence which is the very essence of all life.

The Committee on "Poetry Everings" at the Newtonville Library has been overwhelmed and gratified at the interest which the course has met. The evenings were planned primarily as an adwenture in poetry comparable to the art exhibitions which this branch library features. It seems logical to hold these meetings at the Library as the Library is the beneficiary. The committee was unanimous in the choice of place. We have been amazed that a series of poetry evenings should prove so popular, and regret that any who wished to come found the hall sold out.

The course will net a substantial sum for the Newtonville Library and the committee is happy enture in poetry comparable to ne art exhibitions which this son as chairman. MILK AND WATER

To the Editor:
What is the matter with the NEWTON GRAPHIC? I have compared its last issue with that of another publication, kindly deposited on my doorstep. The latter abounds with timely information where we may obtain the beverages so necessary in these distressing days for the maintenance of cheer and hope. On the other hand the GRAPHIC advertises only one kind of drink, namely, Noble's milk. Milk, indeed!
Does the GRAPHIC think the inhabitants of Newton are only bahabitants of Newton are only ba-bies? Some of us, at any rate, are grown-ups, and we want some-thing to drink that has spirit in Man wants but little here below But wants that little strong.

But wants that little strong.

And the GRAPHIC is fussing because a visitor to our city could not have a drink of water in a drug store until he had bought at least five cents' worth of something! I hold that neither milk nor water is a worthy drink for a modern man or woman. On stage or screen, authentic mirrors of contemporary life, do you ever see the drinking of either? I trow not. Whiskey, rum, gin, brandy, wine, beer—these are the beverages for me, as for every other free, twentieth-century, independent, progressive, liberal person. person.

The information warned of the imminent increase of prices because of additional taxes. No patriot will murmur, but will the rather rejoice to think that the more he is helping the Government in its great task of defending our way of life, under the leadership of our illustrious President, not the least of whose titles to gratitude and honor is the important part he took in 1933 in delivering this great nation from the Sahara blight of Prohibition. He will be remembered for two great achievements—first, he restored the good old bibulous customs, second, he kept us out of war.

I confess, however, that my patriotism did not prevent me from laying in an ample stock of liquid potential happiness while the prices were still low. The advertisements were a great help to me. How many kinds of whiskey there are! They are all good. I can testify, but some are better than others. "Golden Wedding" is my favorite, perhaps because I am getting on in years. CREDIT TO HORACE W. ORR

I have good reason to believe that credit for the recent solution of the bottleneck in traffic on Walnut street, just south of the bridge in Newtonville, should go to the late Horace W. Orr.

A year ago last December, I sat as an observer at a meeting of the executive committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association when the parking problem

tion when the parking problem in Newtonville was being discusin Newtonville was being discussed as a committee of the whole. Discussion rambled on for well toward an hour and had produced no workable suggestion when Mr. Orr, who was not a member of the committee, arose and walked to the front of the room. He had plans drawn for the narrowing of the sidewalk as it has just been carried out. He explained the plan for relief of the bottleneck and immediately aroused the interest and apparent approval of those present. If seems to me fitting that everyone in the community should know to whom credit is due.

Very truly yours, Robert V. Spencer Newtonville, Sept. 30, 1941

Youth, beauty and social distinction combined to make the reception tendered the presidential party by the ladies of the Newton Club, Saturday a most brilliant affair. The invitations read "from 4 to 6" and during that time, some 600 ladies visited the old Gen. Hull mansion, the present abode of the Newton Club. Although the affair was an impromptu one, gotten up at the last moment, as the engagements of Mrs. Harrison decided, it was a grand social event. grand social event.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Moses King has become a resident of Newton and is to furnish us with a handbook, after the style of his hand-book of Boston. Such a work has long been needed. Our fine smooth roads are alike inviting to the pedestrian and the wheelman, the equestrian and the four-in-hand; long may public opinion, as it does now, forbid the street cars to take possession of its highways. When Mr. King's book appears we shall be able to tell visitors where the Eliot Memorial is located, and how it can be reached.

Newton Eleven Opens Gridiron Season By Beating Woburn 14 to 0

Newton Backs Display Consistent Power In Long Marches

A potentially powerful Newton High football team opened the 1941 season last Saturday at the Dickinson stadium turning back the invading Woburn High eleven by a two touchdown margin of 14 to 0. Not in many years has an orange and black team displayed three hard running backs such as Charlie French, Gordon Hobson and Guy Munroe. Averaging nearly five yards each rush this trio ate up the ground for consistent marches, two of which penetrated into scoring territory. The orange and black, confining its strategy to simple straight rushing plays with an occasional forward pass, needed no spectacular or tricky deception to grind out a victory.

Second Period

The Newton march moved steadily on with French and Hobson carrying most of the burden of the 61-yard scoring march while Guy Monroe and George Salmon threw in some excellent blocking. Munroe carried on several occasions and was good for consistent yardage. French's 14 yard effort and Munroe's 9 yard gain were the individual masterpieces of the advance which moved the stakes three times to the Woburn 4 yard line. Here Munroe fumbled and recovered for a 2 yard loss which he got back on the next play. Another play was stopped and then Hobson dropped back and sent a well-directed pass over the centre of the line into Larry Tempesta's arms for the initial score. Newton showed up with a place-kicking specialist in Al Savignano who came in to tally the point after. Healey aga'n kicked off and three plays later Dick Lowry had intercepted a Woburn pass on the 45-yard line to give Newton the ball. Norcross relieved Hobson and with French and Munroe made it first down on the 33. French reeled off 7 yards for the final play of the half. Newton 7, Woburn 0.

Third Period Norman M. Appleyard of the Newton Centre Garage, Inc., local Oldsmobile dealer and members of his sales staff, attended a Boston preview of the new Oldsmobile B-44. Factory executives from Lansing, Michigan, assisted by zone office officials, conducted the meeting. Questioned regarding the Oldsmobile B-44 Mr. Appleyard stated that advancements such as new double duty bumpers, heavier frame, more fire power in the engines, and larger braking areas, place more emphasis than ever on ruggedness and dependability.

Hydra-Matic Drive, the revolutionary feature introduced by Oldsmobile two years ago, which eliminates the clutch pedal and all shifting of gears, will be offered as optional equipment. Quincy's Two Victories Give Visitors Edge

With an opening game victory tucked away under its belt, the Newton High School football team tackles its second opponent of the young season Saturday at Dickinson Stadium. The Granite City of Unition of the visitors—and are they coming "loaded for bear"! During recent years these Newton-Quincy contests have become one of the most spectacular and thrilling of the Orange and Black season. Although not heightened as much by the keen sense of rivalry as in other games later in the season, the two schools are usually quite evenly matched. On several occasions Newton has entered the game a favorite, has pushed the Quincy team all over the field but not back of the goal line, and then, like a flash, the game has broken wide open with a sudden Quincy thrust that has turned an almost certain victory into a heart-rending defeat.

This year, on paper at least, the visitors enter the game the favored team by a narrow margin. The margin is narrowed almost to an infinitesimal degree by the uncertainty of a 1941 Newton iteam, not too experienced, yet with far more potential power than an Orange and Black outlish as carried in many years.

Coach Owen McDowell, pleased for the most part with the showing of his squad against Woburn, but working diligently all week to Mind and the neighbor look of 12 to 0.

The student leaders should be given more chance to work with the older people of the community in meeting the problems of society. Rotary has a splendid chance for promoting the field of civic education.

RECENT DEATHS

MAE PUTNAM BLODGETT

Mrs. Mae Putnam Blodgett, widow of the late Frederick S. Blodgett, died on Sunday, Sept. 28 at her home, 288 Prince st., West Newton. Mrs. Blodgett, who was in her 66th year, was born in Peoria, Illinois, the daughter of Martin V. B. and Hannah Newton for 29 years. She was the president of the Beneficent Society of the New England Conservatory of Music for 20 years, was a member of the Board of Frances Willard Settlement, Student Union Board, Board of the National Civic Federation and the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities. She is survived by two sons, Wentworth P. Blodgett of Bradford, Vermont, and Frederick N. Blodgett of Dover, also by a sister, Mrs. Kate P. Newell of Plainfield, N. J. Funeral services were held at 2:30 on Tuesday afternoon at her home. Rev. J. Edgar Park, president of Wheaton College officiated. Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Well Attended

Poetry Lectures

The second lecture in the course arranged by the Newtonville poetry evenings committee will be given Thursday evening, Oct. 9, at the Newtonville library. The speaker will be John Holmes, assistant professor at Tufts College and editor of the Tufts literary magazine, also former poetry editor of the Boston Transcript. Prof. Holmes is the author of two books of poetry, "Address to the Living" and "Fair Warning," also of the text-book "The Poet's Work." He recently received the golden rose award of the New England Poetry Society. Charles J. Connick of Newtonville, producer of stained glass, will preside.

The demand for tickets proved The demand for tickets proved greater than the committee expected, so that it is proving impossible to provide tickets for all who wish to attend. The community room at the Newtonville library was filled last Thursday evening with an enthusiastic audience, when Robert Frost delivered the first lecture of the course. Mrs. Gorham W. Harris, chairman of the committee, presided, and spoke of this course as one of the activities of the Newtonville library as a cultural center, and how it carried on the work which had been begun by exhibits of paintings and art observes. exhibits of paintings and art ob jects. She then introduced Charle J. Connick, who as a close friend of Mr. Frost, had aided the com mittee in inducing that distinguished poet to lecture in this course. course. He paid a warm tribute to Mr. Frost for his generous heart and literary genius.

Mr. Frost began his lecture with a discussion of the methods of poetical composition. He noted how poets, as the result of the effort to produce lines that will rhyme, frequently get weak or inferior effects. He went on to give his impressions of New England rural character, and said that people of substantial personality are often misjudged by outside observers, who fail to grasp the true worth of these good folks. He found that the people who might be called the "unworthy" poor included many interesting types. Mr. Frost read a number of his poems which illustrate his remarkable gift of humor and subtle interpretation of character.

The demonstration of bombs was carried out under the direction of A. R. Guise of Waban, who explained impressively the proper methods to be used in controlling and extinguishing fires resulting from the incendiary devices. Bombs were ignited and fought by various means, including sand, water from garden hose, acid extinguishers and "G-1" extinguishing powder.

He continually impressed upon the audience the fact that direct action by water upon a magnesium bomb was explosive. The use of a spray is the most effective manner of controlling a bomb while a straight jet applied to the bomb results in further conflagration. The straight jet should only be used on the fire in combustibles in the vicinity of the bomb. Bombs Demonstrated ter headquarters, 12 Austin st. Newtonville, as soon as possible and thereafter will be interviewed by or under the direction of Miss Fay Crabbe, superintendent of nurses at the hospital. The committee assisting in the work will be Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Charles J. A. Wilson and Miss Holga Nelson.

Smothering Agents

Smothering Agents

The effective use of smothering agents was demonstrated by sand and extinguishing powder. Sand is not as effective as the latter as the bombs will continue to burn beneath the sand covering. The powder, consisting of graphite and other substances, is spread about and the burning bomb fragments shoveled onto it. It may then be shoveled into a pail and carried away to a safe depository. The bombs were demonstrated mainly on platforms erected to The latest report of the State Department of Labor and Industries shows an increase in employment and payroll earnings in Newton over the preceding month. Sixteen establishments in Newton were reported showing the number of wage earners as having risen from 3,240 to 3,336 for the week ending nearest the 15th of the month. The weekly payroll increased from $74,928 to $78,878. The weekly earnings advanced from $23.13 to $23.64. The bombs were demonstrated mainly on platforms erected to simulate conditions found in resisimulate conditions found in residence and industrial plant construction, and served to show clearly the effect of the magnesium fire upon such construction. Some of the bombs were placed on the ground and ignited.

Mr. Guise warned against the desire to attack a bomb too quickly. It takes at least two minutes to determine whether the bomb may be an explosive type. It is also well to shield oneself with an overturned table or chair in getting close enough to attempt to extinguish the bomb.

The demonstration concluded with the setting off of a large drum containing 95 pounds of magnesium. Many of the bombs the speaker stated used in attacking England contained 500 pounds of magnesium. The 95-lb, drum was ignited, a stream of water directed against it and the explosive effect of the water sent flames leaping 50 feet into the air and lighting up the vicinity of the stadium for several hundred yards as though it were daylight.

Aldermen Approve Business Zone Announce Friday and Tuesday

Lively Debate On Langley Road Petition; Board Denies Request For Parking Area at Newtonville

Residents of Court Street Object, Despite Compromise

Despite unanimous approval of a change of land at Newton Centre to business zone considerable debate preceded the vote of the aldermen on Monday night before the adoption of an amendment to the zoning ordinance. Some weeks ago the Aldermen had denied a petition to zone land adjoining the Newton Centre Methodist Church on Langley rd. for business because of the opposition of the trustees of the opposition of the trustees of the church. On the subsequent petition the church had not only withdrawn its opposition but had appeared at the public hearing on the matter and favored its adoption.

hearing on the matter and favored its adoption.

Alderman John Temperley of Upper Falls asserted that he would vote for the change but warned that it might be said that "a private individual could not get the change but when a large corporation came into it the petition was granted." This statement brought Alderman Henderson Inches to his feet when Temperley relinquished the floor. Inches declared, "I say he is wrong when he says that it took a large corporation to get it. He ought to know better and I resent the suggestion of such a thing." Temperley replied that he had not said it was so but that "it might be heard said on the street." He added, "I might remind the members there was a matter last year in which some of the members were involved and I was not a party to it."

Alderman George E. Rawson, chairman of the committee on Claims and Rules, explained to the Board that while the change of zone of one lot of land on Langley rd. had encountered the opposition of the Methodist Church the objections had been withdrawn when two lots on Lyman st. had been added to the petition. He added that the land is to be sold to the First National Stores and the company is to erect a "super" market on Langley rd. with a parking area in the rear on Lyman st. The church will be given permission to use the driveway to be constructed on the church side of the property for delivery of fuel and the like.

and the like.

Alderman Hoffman described the plan as a move in the right direction but urged that attention be given to the handling of traffic on Lyman st., now a one-way thoroughfare. He suggested that it might be advisable to reverse traffic there and reminded the Board that the Rice School at the corner of Lyman st. presented a problem.

Alderman Rawson replied that Alderman Rawson replied that the Rice School, one of the older of the public schools in Newton, would have to be replaced at a not too far distant date and that it undoubtedly would not be relocat-ed on its present site.

Deny Newtonville Petition

The Petition of the Newton Motor Sales Company for the rezoning of land on Court st. for use ing of land on Court st. for use as a parking area in connection with the sales and repair business at their Washington st. building was unanimously given leave to withdraw. Aldermen Rawson explained that when an original petition was presented some weeks ago the entire land in the area was sought for business, arousing the opposition of residents of Court st. who believed the value of their property would be adversely affected.

The committee of the Newton Community Forum had this in mind in preparing the 1941-1942 program. The distinguished authorities on topics of keen interest to every thinking citizen which are being presented this season, are not "just platform speakers." They are people who have a vast fund of information, people with live, interesting messages. This year's program is by far the most important the Forum has ever offered. These speakers will help you understand better today's grave problems:

$90,000 Saved In Nine Months' Welfare Costs

The nine months of 1941 have resulted in a saving of $90,000 in welfare expenditures in the city of Newton this year as compared with a similar period of 1940. Figures compiled by Director of Public Welfare James P. Reynolds were announced this week.

Cases of general aid last month numbered 267 as compared with 529 in September a year ago. Costs for the month were $8,375 against $19,500 last year. August, 1941 saw 282 cases with expenditures of $8,200. The increase in expenditures in September over August, despite fewer cases, was due to the purchase of considerable school clothing for welfare families.

Indications are that nearly

Indications are that nearly half of the $250,000 appropriated for the Welfare department budget this year will be returned to the city treasury as an unexpended balance at the end of the year.

T. J. McGowan Succeeds CHILDS TO RUN FOR MAYOR

Shortly before 3 o'clock this

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon papers of former Mayor Edwin O. Childs as a candidate for Mayor at the city election on November 4, were filed at City Hall. Mayor Childs was defeated two years ago by a narrow margin by the present mayor, Paul M. Goddard. A recount failed to change the results. Childs was first elected mayor of Newton in 1913 and served consecutive terms until 1930 when he voluntarily retired when Ex-Mayor Sinclair Weeks became a candidate. Childs returned to office in 1936 upon Weeks' retirement serving two terms, making a total of twenty years as chief executive of the city.

Wardens And To Be Active

The Newton Committee on Public Safety announce that on Friday, October 10 from noon until midnight, and on Tuesday, October 14 from noon until 6 p. m., the Newton Report Center will be activated through reports from air raid wardens throughout the city and through reports and warning from U. S. Army received throughout the District Warnings Center. The warnings and reports from

from U. S. Army received throughout the District Warnings Center.

The warnings and reports from the Army will probably be received from army planes either above the city or some distance away and will be routed through the District Warning Center which covers Newton and certain other cities and towns. Those messages which refer to Newton will be relayed from the District Warning Center to the Newton Report Center.

At the same time air raid wardens on duty throughout the city will be transmitting to the Newton Report Center messages as to alleged conditions at their posts. It is expected that messages will be received at the rate of twenty to twenty-five per hour.

The wardens will function just as they would in the case of real hostilities, the positions being filled during business hours by women volunteers and men employed locally, who will be relieved after business hours by other wardens who during the day time are engaged in Boston, Brook-line, Wellesley and other cities throughout the state.

Sen. Hollis Splits Vote on Coakley

cratic political leader from future office.

On the fourteen charges under which the Governor's Councillor was tried Senator Hollis cast votes of guilty on five articles of impeachment and not guilty on nine. On two of the charges Coakley was unanimously acquitted. On two others he was found not guilty by votes of 15 to 23 and 14 to 24. The two first named charges, Articles 3 and 4, were connected with the Limon case which the prosecution did not press. The other two not guilty counts were on charges of urging a witness to give false testimony before the Pardon-Parole Commission and of telling witnesses that the Commission was acting beyond its powers.

On the other charges Coakley was found guilty by votes varying from 23 to 15 to 32 to 6. Senator Hollis recorded votes of guilty on articles 5, 7, 10, 11 and 14 and on the vote to remove him from office.

First Impeachment in 120 Years

The first impeachment trial in 120 years in Massachusetts has now become a matter of history. A public official has been found guilty of using his office in violation of the public trust. The verdict was decisive and in addition divided as to party lines to give a feeling of confidence that politics was not permitted for the most part, to cloud the judgment of the Senate, sitting as a court. During the past decade and more Massachusetts has experienced more than one in-cident which has caused concern and consternation among many citizens who regard their elected servants as men of honor and integrity. When the proper time comes the Commonwealth will always rise up in protest, the blots against its fair name will be eradicated and we can all look to the future with the knowledge that right will, in the end, prevail.

The Age of Miracles Is Not Past

Everywhere this week there has been great rejoicing on the safe return of little Pamela Hollingworth. With almost every hope gone, eight days after her disappearance, the hearts of all were lifted at the news of the finding of the little girl. Time will erase the despair, the heartaches, and the worry of those days which brought great anxiety. The chances of her returning alive or without permanent injury to her health were rapidly diminishing with each hour.

Throughout the severe ordeal the girl's father never relinquished hope that she would be found alive and well. His faith is an example to others. Truly the age of miracles has not passed.

Editorial Writer Speaks On Japan At Auburndale

Japan's peculiar position was discussed on Monday night at the meeting of the Auburndale Men's Club by James G. Powers, editorial writer of the Boston Globe. The meeting was attended by over 160. George E. Wrye, president of the club, introduced the speaker. Mr. Powers' subject was "The War Moves to Axis—What Next?" He told how Japan's pact with the Axis and the non-aggression pact with Russia have presented seemingly insolvable problems. The presence of 51 Russian divisions on the borders and the American patrol of the Pacific are other angles of the situation.

Declaring the U. S. embargo on shipments of supplies to Japan is rapidly weakening her, he added that 75 per cent of the cotton industry there was idle, silk production is going to waste, and there is no oil. Japan could ersily be eliminated by a combination of Australia, New Zealand, the Dutch East Indies and the United States with great value in the moral effect resulting. of the situation.

Large Response For Junior Forum Committee

Large Response For Junior Forum Committee of the Newton Community Forum and giving Junior Chairman Danforth and Junior Secretary Alice Birmingham the unexpected job of eliminating candidates. In previous years a turn-out of thirty or forty boys and girls to perform the clerical, ushering, poster distributing, and other jobs connected with the management of the Community Forum has been considered a fine response. Those in charge, including senior Executive Secretary Walter M. Taylor are at a loss to explain the growth in popularity of this service group. Plans for the meeting had to be quickly and summarily changed. Chairman Danforth explained the purposes of the Forum and the loss of workers addressing stamping, and filling 2000 envelopes carrying advance notice of the season's Forum programi into 2000 Newton homes.

NEWTON SPORTS

With Right Change

The Newton high school football ticket officials were obliged to assess the new "defense tax" on admissions to the Dickinson Stadium last Saturday. The attendance surpassed expectations partly because of the mild weather but mostly because of the promise the Newton team had shown in its opening game. Many of the ticket purchasers obligingly assisted in speeding up entrance into the stands by having the right change available. With good weather on coming Saturdays and the opportunity to see one of the best Newton teams in years, all football fans are urged to similarly co-operate as much as possible.

Four plays after the kickoff Norcross intercepted a Quincy pass and battered his way 15 yards to the Quincy 42. On an end run Norcross was almost free but was run outside after a 20-yard gain. Three plays picked up slight yardage and then Norcross heaved a down-the-centre pass right into the arms of Alden Haffermehl, who turned, took two strides and was over for the fourth score. Savvy made good on his fourth attempted kick for the 26th point.

Quincy threatened a few times, reaching the Newton 20-yard line early in the third period. Failing to gain, a fourth-down field goal attempt was made to no avail. Quincy almost had the Newton team jittery with its razzle-dazzle offense with lateral passes that carried them from their own 36 to the Newton 15 before Salmon stopped the advance with a smashing tackle that was good for a Quincy 5-yard loss. Conroy tried for a field goal with the ball on the 20-yard stripe. After that attempt Quincy gradually folded from the power that Newton displayed and was never in the running thereafter.

Breaks Game Open

In its second game of the season last Saturday before nearly 5000 spectators at the Dickinson Stadium, Newtonville, the Newton High school football ticket officials were divinced on all comers to beware of its potential power by trouncing a previously unbeaten Quincy eleven to the tune of 26 to 0. Taking a second-period 7 to 0 lead and thwarting an after-intermission sally on the part of the visitors the orange and black power burst like fireworks in the final stanza to crush the Granite City eleven as it crumbled under the onslaught of a three-touchdown scoring spree. In that final stanza Coach McDowell's second and third string backs played havoc, with time alone expiring to save further probable scoring.

Heading the Newton parade was Gordon Hobson, the major ground gainer, scoring two touchdowns as the result of his drive and power which carried the Quincy forwards back repeatedly. He was ably abetted by Charley French and Guy Munroe, who did their share of ground gaining and by Geroge Norcross whose talented passing arm was a potent cog in the victory. Towards the close of the final session Coach McDowell was using third string backs in the line-up and they, too, were pushing the Granite City team back. The blocking of George Salmon was another factor while he saved the day on more than one occasion with jarring tackles just as the ball carrier was about to break loose on a possible touchdowns.

In the line Dick Lowry, Len Morrisey, Bob Hay and Frank Brock were outstanding with Captain Bill Healey, Bill Kalousdian, Dick Boulter and Larry Tempesate the voor four tries at placement after the touchdowns.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, industrial America's No. 1 job BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE Our assignment: Build-ing Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft

r was no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said-these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car - certainly not for any "ersatz" number. We bowed our necks against that.

No, we had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve and delight its owner till that unscheduled time when annual new models are the rule again.

The world being what it is, that may be a long spell away.

So went the specifications for however many or few we may build now we're announcing the cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer - you drive the cars themselves.

Come on, do that! Please put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

Rev. Charles T. Allen presided at the service. George R. Strandberg, Chairman of the Committee on Church Improvements, presented the new Trowbridge Memorial Room. This room was made possible by a bequest left the church several years ago, under the will of Mrs. Abbie Trowbridge Hanaford, in memory of her first husband, Francis M. Trowbridge, at one time an active member of the church.

Eldred Peterson then presented the new Lawrence Memorial Stage, in memory of Mrs. Charles Lawrence. He also called Mrs. Mabel Lawrence Barber, the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence, to the front, and presented in her honor, a new Lectern, with Bible and silk marker, together with a beautiful basket of roses for herself, on behalf of former members of the Junior League. This children's organization was conducted in the church by Mrs. Charles Lawrence for 25 years, and then, in turn, by her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Lawrence Barber, for the following 25 years. tist that the world has ever known.

To Mrs. Eddy it was clearly revealed that it was through his scientific knowledge of the spiritual reality of all things that Jesus overcame the material claim at all points. It is only in the false material concept of the world that mortals have "great tribulation." In this counterfeit creation is to be overcome for each one of us individually by the divinely scientific way which Jesus as the Wayshower demonstrated. The way of Christian Science is constructive in all its methods. Through its teachings we learn not to accept the evidence presented by material sense, whatever it may be, but to look through it and find the spiritual fact. Each material appearance will then be seen as a distortion, a misconception, or a limited conception of something unphangeably good desirable. in-

Newton People Interested In Show for Hospital Benefit

A number of people in the New

A number of people in the Newtons are interested in the success of the October 15th performance of the new Cole Porter musical show—"Let's Face It"—at the Colonial Theatre, which will benefit the New England Hospital for Women and Children.

Among those who have made early reservations for tickets are: Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Carter, Mrs. Arthur Emmons Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, Mr. and Mrs. R. Maxwell Ott, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Fessenden, Mrs. Herbert E. Fales, Mrs. Preston Upham, Dr. and Mrs. William F. Cotting, Mrs. Coburn Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Calkins, Dr. Harrison P. Kennard, Dr. and Mrs. Langdon Parsons and others.

DAMON HALL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

An interesting schedule, based on progressive educational methods, has swung into routine at Damon Hall, Newton. The school opened has swing into routine at Dainon has swing into routine at Daino President Frank H. Damon, distinguished lecturer and author, has included several innovations in his school program for the coming year to blend with the 1941 keynote of national defense. Girls will be trained in motor corps, first aid, and will be among the first to build an air raid shelter in this country.

Friends of Mr. Daman will be interested to learn that the Herald-Traveler Book Fair has honored him with an invitation to appear on their program.

A welcoming reception-tea was given at the school Tuesday by Mrs. Damon and Mrs. Richards for the students, their parents and friends.

THE NEEDLEWORK GUILD

Two points are unique about
The Needlework Guild of America and its Newton branch. First, all the articles which it gives to fill needs are new, and second, all collections made in Newton are used only in Newton. The organization is national with a membership well over a million. A cordial invitation is extended to anyone desiring to become a member of the Newton Branch. All that is required is a donation of two new garments for men, women, children, or infants, before the day of the Ingathering which will be held this year at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, on Friday afternoon, October 31st.
Visitors are always welcome. Mrs.
C. A. St. Lawrence of Waban is the local president.

SEE COWS SCIENTIFICALLY MILKED ON A "MERRY-GO-ROUND"

THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR FEATURE EXHIBIT

The WALKER-GORDON Rotolactor

Millions of people saw this spectacular invention at the New York World's Fair. Now you and your family can see it free . . . at the beautiful Charles River Village Farm of Walker-Gordon, Needham, Mass. You may have seen cows milked a dozen times but never like this . . . washed and dried as though for Sunday School, then milked on a sort of merrygo-round in an entirely new way so that milk goes right into the bottle as pure as it left the cow . . . untouched by hand or open air. Sixty cows are milked on the Walker-Gordon ROTOLACTOR every hour, a cow a minute.

Needham is very easy to reach by several main highways. Markers in Needham direct you to the Walker-Gordon Farm. Free admission any time of day, any day. Why not today?

Two days of mock "air raids," in which more than four hundred "incidents" were reported and attended to by the Newton ARP organization, served as a demonstration of civilian defense preparedness in this section of the country on Tuesday of this week and on last Friday. A model for the entire country, the air raid report centre at the fire headquarters was inspected by telephone company representatives from the Pacific Coast, Chicago and New York. The visitors not only saw the report centre and the district warning centre in operation during the bombing but were impressed with the efficiency of the system. A representative of the Governor of Maine was also present.

The maples are putting on their wonderful robes of glory. Few villages have more beautiful trees than Auburndale. Year by year we have cause to bless the memory of Mr. A. S. Johnson, whose timely care prevented the felling of some of our most beautiful trees more than thirty years ago, and whose taste and good judgment were exercised in the laying out and planning of our beautiful village. His three sons and three daughters, who are residents here, have just cause for pride in the results of his labors. There is a fine four-fold chestnut on Woodlawn ave. which narrowly escaped the axe of the stupid woodman. Its beauty and fruitfulness are now the admiration of all who see it, and especially the small boy who by any means obtains the chance to pick, and the provided in the chance to pick. The harvest moon fulled in the south on the 12th, and brought warm weather; mercury stood at 75 to 80 degrees all, day Tuesday.

On Tuesday air raid wardens on duty in various parts of the city telephoned in reports of 102 bombing "incidents" between noon and six o'clock. Those on duty at the report centre went through the motions of dispatching the necessary services to attend to the various types of damage and numerous casualties.

The district warning centre serves thirteen cities and towns in the district with word being received here of approaching bombing planes from the army. The district with word being received here of approaching bombing planes from the army. The district warning centre reports in turn to the report centres in each community in the district. Chief Air Raid Warden William V. M. Fawcett and Chairman John M. Bierer of the Newton Committee on Public Safety were in charge of the demonstration. The report centre was set up to the direction of a British Army officer in accordance with latest effective plans as a result of the raiding of that country.

A somewhat more realistic tinge was given to the activities last Friday when "victims" were transported to an army mobile first aid station at Newton Centre and given treatment.

Some three hundred incidents were reported on Friday between noon and midnight with many of them taking place during the evening hours. Police motorcycles and ambulances sped to the assistance of "stricken" areas. A stitance of "stricken" areas. Two Fliers Killed in Crashes

Were In Service of Canadian and United States Armies

Two young Newton men, one a U. S. Army flier and the other with the Royal Canadian Air Forces in Ontario met their death this week in airplane crashes.

William Devereaux Langhorne, Jr., 21 years of age, son of Mrs. Myrtle Davidson Langhorne, of 59 Woodland rd., Auburndale, was killed last Thursday at St. Thomas, Ontario, one day before he was to have received his wings. Funeral services were held at the home of his mother on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Ralph H. Rogers of the Auburndale Congregational Church and Rev. Richard P. McClintock of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale officiated. Burial was in Lynchburg, Va., cemetery where services were conducted by Dr. Oscar Randolph of the Presbyterian Church. The coffin was draped with American and British flags and there was a military escort from Co. S. F. T. S. of Ontario. He was a member of the class of 1938 at Newton High School and was attending the University of Virginia when he resigned last spring to volunteer in the R. C. A. F. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Miss Beverly Langhorne and a brother, Allen Langhorne.

Word was received here yesterday from Manila of the death of Pvt. Francis Brouilette, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Brouillette of 494 Watertown st., Newtonville (Continued on page 8)

School Board Has No Contests

Chief interest in the city election on Nov. 4th will centre in the mayoralty contest between Mayor Paul M. Goddard and former Mayor Edwin O. Childs. Two years ago Mayor Goddard defeated Childs by a narrow margin and a recount failed to alter the outcome. Goddard is completing his first two-year term. He filed nomination papers last week.

Ex-Mayor Childs hecame an eleventh-hour entry by filing his nomination papers Thursday afternoon. It had been previously rumored about the city that he would be and that he was not to be a candidate. He is seeking an eleventh term. He was first elected Mayor of Newton in 1913, taking office on January 1st, 1914. Serving eight consecutive two-year terms, he did not become a candidate in the 1929 election, following announcement by the then President of the Board of Aldermen Sinclair Weeks that he was a candidate. Weeks was elected and subsequently re-elected for two additional terms.

In the election of 1935, Childs again became a candidate andefeated General Daniel A. Needham. Two years later Childs defeated then Alderman Clarence C. Colby, present State Representative and assistant city treasurer, and at the expiration of that term had completed twenty years as Mayor of Newton.

A four-cornered contest developed two years ago with Major Frank T. McCabe and James A. Waters, other candidates in the election which resulted in the first political defeat of Mayor Childs for the municipal office.

The Contests at the City Election

The decision of former Mayor Edwin O. Childs to become a candidate opposing the re-election of Mayor Paul M. Goddard has created an enlivened interest in the coming city election on November fourth. The closeness of the election of two years ago indicated at that time the attitude of the voters of Newton, although it should be remembered that two other candidates in the field polled sufficient votes to have made the result more decisive or to have changed the result. The record of the present administration of the past two years is available for the scrutiny of the undecided voter.

Imposing Head Taxes The State Legislature is about to impose upon every taxpayer in the state an additional $2 head tax to provide more liberal assistance for old age pensions. The present scale of assistance is $30 per month and the increased allotment would be to raise the maximum to a figure of $40. The increased cost would add to the present state's total annual expenditure of $30,000,000. The Legislature does not seem to realize that there are but two states in the Union that are equally or more liberal than Massachusetts at the present time.

It is not our purpose to enter into a discussion of the issues that may or may not be involved, at this time. We have always maintained a belief that the voters are entitled to an opportunity to express their opinion through a choice of candidates. We reiterate that belief at this time. Our po litical support of the present administration is well known, as is our "political" opposition to the former Mayor. But in a paraphrase of the historic words of Voltaire we repeat—"we do not support your candidacy, but we will defend to the end your right to

In these days of rising costs there is no doubt that most persons would willingly extend a helping hand to those less fortunate older persons who are finding it difficult to make ends meet. But the imposition of a head tax is one of the unfairest of all taxes. It puts upon the wage earner with a number of dependents an assessment for each person, whereas the more well-to-do person or single person is assessed only one amount of $2. What clearer illustration could there be of a case of "killing the goose that lays the

To Install New Minister at N. C. Church

Members of the Newton Centre Unitarian Society, Cypress and Centre sts., will ordain and install Mr. L. Wendell Hughes to the ministry of their church next Wednesday evening, October 22, at 8:00 p. m.

Dr. Palfrey Perkins of King's Chapel, Boston, will deliver the ordination sermon. He will be assisted in the service by Rev. Herbert Hitchen, minister of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, who will conduct the service. Rev. Frederick M. Eliot, President of the American Unitarian Association, will deliver the charge to the minister and the congregation. Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn, Director of the Department of Unitarian Ministry, will give the welcome to the Unitarian Fellowship. Dr. Charles N. Arbuckle, minister of the Newton Centre Baptist Church, will welcome Mr. Hughes to the community and Rev. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the First Parish in Cambridge, will give the welcome to the South Middlesex Unitarian Conference. The Act of Ordination and Installation will be conferred by Mr. William F. Coan, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the church.

Mr. Hughes is a former native of Kansas. He finished his theological work at Boston University School of Theology in June of this year and took up his duties at the Newton Centre Unitarian Church the first of September.

Children to Lay Cornerstone At Upper Falls Service

A series of ten lectures on the history and government of the United States will be given for English-speaking aliens who are studying to become citizens of the United States. They will be held on every Thursday evening from eight to nine o'clock in Room 218, first floor of the Technical High School Building, Elm rd., Newton-ville. The first lecture will take place on Thursday evening, Oct. 23, at 8:00 o'clock.

At Upper Falls Service

A unique corner stone laying ceremony will take place at the First Methodist Church, Newton Upper Falls, on Sunday, October 19 at noon, when the children of the church will conduct the entire service of laying the corner stone of the new Primary and Kindergarten building of the church. The service will open with a call to worship by George Ticchurst, 9, who will lead the responsive sections of the service and the litany. A processional of the Kindergarten, Primary and Junior children will be led by the Junior Choir. Barbara Moser, 9, will lead the younger children in singing appropriate worship songs. The corner stone will be laid by Robert Cedergen, 6, Daphne Fisher, 7, and Charles Langdon, 6. The stone will contain a small Bible, copies of the parish paper of the church, lists of the church leaders, as well as the committees concerned in the building of the unit. The building is a structure of fireproof materials, with a central children's chapel, five classrooms, and a kindergarten room, built out from the north side of the church. The new unit measures thirty-four by forty-two feet. Of unusual beauty and significance will be the palladium window in the chapel, each of the forty-five lights of which will have a symbol of some story or teaching of interest to children. The work is now in progress and is expected to be finished by early December.

The Parent Teachers Guild of the Second Church in West New-ton have secured the Honorable George R. Farnum, well known Boston lawyer, to address the par-ish of their church on Friday eve-ning, October 24th, at 8.30 o'clock. His subject will be "The Younger Generation in This Modern World."

Generation in This Modern World."

Mr. Farnum, former assistant attorney general of the United States under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover has been engaged in important and sensational investigations for the Boston Finance Commission, City of Boston, and other public bodies. He is a regular contributor to the Saturday edition of the Boston Traveller, as well as a writer for numerous other papers and legal publications. His writings are of wide range covering subjects of a social, political, philosophical and biographical nature.

Mr. Grebe, church school director and Mrs. Grebe, will be in the Young People's parlor from 7.45 to 8.30 to give parents an opportunity to greet them at the beginning of the year. The parish house will also be open to give newer members a chance to see the school.

Addition To Aviation School For Mechanics

A new addition is being made to the main building of the Wig-gins School of Aviation Mechanics Division at Norwood, Massachu-

Division at Norwood, Massachusetts, it was announced this week by E. Y. Domina in charge of school development. This new building will provide space for a separate. modern engine training shop, while making provision for a more efficient stockroom.

The new engine shop is a part of the projected expansion program of the school, which in turn is the Training Division of E. W. Wiggins Airways. The Airways fleet of one hundred and eight modern planes is maintained and overhauled at the Norwood Base. Enrollment at Wiggins School of Aviation Mechanics Division has nearly tripled in the last few weeks.

Kiwanis Names Orchestra For Pop Concert

The Newton Kiwanis Club has just announced that they have been successful in securing the popular High Pines Symphony Orchestra of Hyde Park for their popular concert in November. These arrangements were made through the General Committee consisting of Mr. James P. Gallagher, Mr. A. C. Bellinger, Mr. George VanBuskirk and Mr. Frank Hurtubis. This is welcome news to many of the music lovers of the vicinity who know the High Pines Orchestra's outstanding position in the musical world.

Mr. Leo Noel, Chairman of Ticket Distribution Committee, announces that there has been a large demand for tickets and that apparently the affair will be oversold. It is being held, in the Newton Center Women's Club on the evening of Nov. 10th. The proceeds will be turned over to the Underprivileged Child's Fund of the local club, and will be used in an extensive program of aid to the underprivileged children of Newton.

Last Tuesday evening the local club held a dinner, entertainment, and penny sale at the Newtonville Women's Club, with members and their wives in attendance. President Raymond Green presided. The speaker was Mr. Theodore B. Gettings, of the Western Union Telegraph Company. He spoke on the subject "What's Behind the Yellow Blank?" Mr. Gettings outlined in detail the vast organization necessary to so quickly transmit messages to all points of the world. He discussed the part which telegraph facilities take in transmitting news, showing that which telegraph facilities take in transmitting news, showing that were it not for these facilities, local papers would be unable to report the news sometimes with-in a few moments after it hap-pens. Dancing was enjoyed fol-lowing the speaker.

No Ersatz In Auto Industry

Because old-style paints and enamels were not good enough, our industry led in the development of better synthetic enamels. Because the customary fractions of natural petroleum failed to meet our industry's demands, better fuels and lubricants were synthesized. thesized.

Because the best steel was not adaptable to our needs, men learned to make steels with specific qualities by incorporating other metals with iron. Because incorporating iron. Because other metals with iron. Because common glass was too dangerous to use in the transparent areas of motor cars a substitute—a glass and plastic "sandwich"—was developed and has been steadily improved. Because natural rubber failed when subjectd to heat and petroleum products, our engineers petroleum products, our engineers turned to the superior synthetic elastomers for all "rubber" ap-plications to tasks where natural elastomers for all "rubber" applications to tasks where natural rubber's enemies were present.

So, although we have an enviable record based on our avoidance of shoddy substitutes, we have at the same time become adept in the adoption and application of substitute materials that are superior to so-called natural products. That experience will enable us to continue building motor cars without "ersatz" and uphold our reputation while we are diverting critical and strategic materials from our assembly lines to the more important task of arming America.

In such a big and complex instrument as the modern automobile there are thousands of individual parts, composed of hundreds of materials, drawn from scores of geographical sites. In the steady evolution of this instrument from the "horseless carriage" of 1893 into the automobile of 1942, the parts have multiplied many times and their sources have shifted constantly.

For the manufacture of spark plugs, for instance, it was once necessary to obtain mica from Madagascar and adapt the faulty material to automotive use. Only the other day, one unit of our industry developed for the use of American combat aircraft a radically new type of spark plug which is vastly superior to any heretofore

American combat aircraft a radically new type of spark plug which is vastly superior to any heretofore used. This innovation, contributed to the ceuse of national defense, will redound to the improvement of automobile performance. Moreover, because it involves the use of a substitute material, its adoption will make America a little more independent of a foreign material which might well be cut off in wartime. In the last forty years, the evolution of the motor car has caused such revolution in almost all the arts of adapting natural products to human use.

Take iron, for example:
Until the automobile came along with its highly specialized behavior of both were mysteries.

Both forms of this natural product contained varying qualities of that "iron" and "steel" began to lose their meaning as distinctions. A little later, to satisfy automotive demands, vanadium steel was produced. Chrome, nickel, molvbdenum, tungsten and other allov steels followed—all tailor-made substitutions designed to perform specific functions which ordinary steel failed to achieve in the automobile.

These man-made steels brought difficult problems to motor-car manufacturers. They demanded cutting and grinding tools that were harder and toucher than anything nature provided. It is no accident that one of the first synthetic cutting materials, "stellite." was perfected by one of America's' automotive pioneers, Elwood Haynes. Elwood Haynes.

In this half-century of automo-tive history, the sciences of me-tallurgy and metallography have made huge strides. And, largely in answer to demands of research-minded manufacturers, the iron minded manufacturers, the iron and steel warehouses have been stocked with hundreds of tailor-made steels in which metallic iron is alloyed with a host of other metals.

It is apparent on the surface that this development is of tremendous value to the nation at this moment when steels of all kinds are needed for armanent and ordnance.

It should be apparent, too, that our industry's engineers, having played such prominent parts in the development of these specialty steels, should now know exactly what alternate alloys to employ when defense priorities withdraw a particular alloy metal from automotive use. The fact is that there is virtually no alloy steel part in the automobile for which our engineers cannot substitute one or more equally efficient alternate alloys.

To be consistent, we could call all of these steels "synthetic," for they are man-made, or synthesized, substitutes for a product which nature provided faultily.

But automotive engineers shun such tricky words. In every research laboratory in our industry there has been continuous experiment in the shuffling of molecular building blocks in steels and all other metals. Many combinations have been developed, tested and tested again.

in last week's predictions—but is in good company—as only a few could have called the turn in Salem's upset of Everett and Rindge's one-point margin over Waltham. Your prognosticator also when wrong on the Wakefield-Woburn affair to make it three misses out of the nine.

Although the predictions were crowded out of these columns due to lack of space here's the way they went—Newton to top Cantabs by at least four touchdowns (Newton 33-0); Everett to edge Salem with a scoreless tie not a remote possibility (Salem 14 to 7); Lynn Classical to have an easy time with unusually inferior Haverhill (L. C. 40-0); Leominster to topple St. Bernard's on the holiday Leominster (35-0); Fitchburg-Framingham a nip and tuck affair with a possibility of the former squeezing through for its first win (Fitchburg 6-0); Brookline to down Boston Latin, inasmuch as the Wealthy Towners have had a one-touchdown edge for the past several years we'll give it that margin this season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Woburn to hang up its first win of the season (Brookline 7 to 0); Picking but six out of the nine games in which Newton's opponent's figure reduced your columnist's rating to a 808 percentage. Second and Third String Backs Stage Spectacular Runs For Late Scores

Scoring five touchdowns the onrushing 1941 Newton High football team crushed Cambridge Latin last Saturday before 2500 spectators at the Dickinson stadium, Newtonville, 33 to 0. The orange and black dominated the play throughout piling up thirteen first downs to the visitors' five. Coach McDowell's crew took a 14 to 0 lead before the first period was hardly more than half played. The three final tallies, two of which were produced by the reserves, came in the second half. Simple power accounted for the initial score, forward passes for the next two and end runs of 50 and 30 yards the final two. On three of the five tries for the point after touchdown efforts were successful although on two occasions alternate offside play made it necessary to make the attempt four times before play was legal.

As in its previous games Gordon Hobson and Charlie French were the standouts in the Newton first team backfield. French counted the first touchdown at the end of a 45-yard advance featured chiefly by Hobson's carrying. A series of four first downs in which an 11-yard tackle smash by Hobson and a Hobson to Munroe forward pass were the highlights brought the ball to the Cambridge two yard line. French plowed over. Following an off-side by the visitors on Savignano's try for placekick goal Hobson tushed to annex the point.

Leonard Morrisey tallied the second and third touchdowns when on the receiving end of Hobson's forward passes. The second tally came four plays after Newton had taken a 7 to 0 lead. Larry Tempesta, Newton right end set up the scoring opportunity by recovering a Cantab fumble on the five yard line and the Newton end scored standing up. Four attempts were made at the point after with Savignano finally converting with his third placekick try.

were made at the point after with Savignano finally converting with his third placekick try.

The first period ended with Cambridge starting an advance against the Newton seconds. Coach McDowell sent in his first stringer: as Cambridge reached the 25-yard line but two more completed passes set the Newton first team back on the one foot line where they held off the attack. An unknown Newton tackler brought the ball-carrier down with Charley French saving a touchdown by throwing his body in front of the Cambridge ball carrier to prevent the latter's momentum from crossing the last white line. Although forced to kick into the teeth of a strong wind Hobson's punt took the locals out of danger and an ensuing fumble returned the ball to Newton's possession. A second punt forced the Cantabs back to midfield where a Hobson interception of a pass gave Newton the ball again just before the half ended. The Newton first team started the third quarter and facing the wind again found themselves in a little difficulty. Dick Lowry came through with a timely recovery of a Canta fumble and Newton was again in the driver's seat. A 60-yard drive with Hobson and French alternating produced the third touchdown with a Hobson to Morrisey forward pass from the T-yard line the scoring play. The try for point failed.

try for point failed.

Newton reserves trickled into the line-up throughout the rest of the game. Midway of the fourth period a Cantab punt gave Newton the ball near midfield. Alden Haffermehl swept his left end, shook off to would-be tacklers whose grasp slipped off his heels, and raced into the clear. Cutting toward the left sideline he went all the way for the fourth touchdown. Again the try for point failed after four attempts due to alternate offsides. The touchdown run was on a pretty reverse play.

Late in the period a quick kick
by George Norcross set the visitors back to their 8-yard line and a subsequent return punt gave Newton the ball at midfield. Malley of 12 and 9 yards to reach the 30 and then Charley Rezutti carried.

Clearing right end he raced down the right sideline to score. Savignano's try for point was successful. It was the final play of the game.

Newton Eleven Attempts To Keep

Meets Everett In Outstand- Football League ing Schoolboy Grid Game

Can Newton do it? That is the question all Newton football fans are asking this week. The answer will be known on Saturday answer will be known on Saturday afternoon sometime about 4:30 when the referee's final whistle blows to end the annual Newton-Everett football game at the Dickinson stadium, Newtonville. One thing is certain. The game will be one of the leading football games on the schoolboy calendars of this week-end.

Another thing that is evident is that the Newton lads are rarin' to go. The squad is in excellent shape and is determined to make every attempt to maintain the spotless record of unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon, after three games.

The past years have shown that Everett must be regarded as the favorite although this year the margin is the slightest it has been in many a long moon. Seemingly when the teams have been more or less evenly rated, the redwhen the teams have been more or less evenly rated, the red-coated Gilda clan has come up with a fortunate break that has seemed to jinx the orange and black. But it cannot be overlooked that Everett has had the power to force the breaks and when they have come have carried through to capitalize upon them. Heretofore whenever Dame Fortune smiled a bit upon Newton the opportunities have frequently failed to materialize.

But the 1941 Newton team is a team which has always been forcing the issue and in so doing has caused its opponents to make mistakes. These opponents' errors takes. These opponents' errors have been turned to Newton's advantage. Perhaps this Saturdav it will be history repeating itself. Another angle which gives rise to Newton hopes is that the game is Newton's fourth of the season and not, as formerly, the third. In previous years the game has been a Columbus Day week-end affair and numerous times this factor has been to Newton's disadvantage because the orange and black squad had not approached its top performance. As a result the game has taken a great deal out of the Newton team and has made it difficult for an early return to the team's best playing. Here again perhaps things will be different this year for Newton is in physical and mental shape to give every bit of ability in an "allout" effort.

boli, the scarlet's ace back, can be stopped as well as the determination to protect its unsullied record. A third factor already cited is that it is Newton's best chance in years to topple their ancient rivals.

Coach McDowell took the squad to Watertown on Tuesday of this week for a well-ordered scrimmage with that high school squad.
Although George Norcross wound up the day with a sore elbow it is not regarded as serious. The Newton mentor will field the same team that has started the previous games with a backfield consisting of Gordon Hobson, Charlie French, Guy Munroe and George Salmon. The latter, a 150-lb. blocking back, has been of blocking and tackling despite his small stature. Dick Lowry will be at centre as usual with Captain Bill Healey and Bill Kalousdian at the tackle posts. Larry Tempesta and Leonard Morrisey will be on the wings. Frank Brock and Dick Boulter are due for the guard positions with the outside possibility that "Red" McCarthy will get the nod over Boulter. These two lads have been staging a nip and tuck race for the berth. McCarthy has an edge in experience being a letter man on last year's souad, and he is also heavier. At Watertown he showed improvement. Boulter, however, has been in the game all the time and has been more than holding his own. Should Coach McDowell give the nod to McCarthy it would be largely in an effort to add more weight to the Newton line.

League Standing

The third sets of games in the City Football league brought Upper Falls and Thompsonville into a deadlock in the league standing. The latter smothered the Boys' Club on Sunday in a 44 to 0 game while Upper Falls was being held to a scoreless tie by the Highlands Merchants.

In the third game of the day the Black Hawks showed improve-ment by downing a battling Au-burndale eleven in a 14 to 0 game at Auburndale. at Auburndale.

Upper Falls staved off a defeat at the hands of the Merchant eleven which rolled up no first downs to three, by goalline stands. On one occasion four tries from the one-yard line were halted. Parlato, Chappelle and McDonald starred for the Merchants with Billy Horrigan flashing for Upper Falls.

Falls.

LaCroix and Dalisandro were the Black Hawks backs who turned the tide at Auburndale, getting away for good gains. The first touchdown was at the end of a long march with Cormier tossing a 20-yard pass to DeSantis. Delisandro scored from the 15 yard line in two rushes for the second score.

Candidates To School Board Present Views

The Newton League of Women Voters has announced a public meeting at the Newton high school auditorium on the evening of October 28 at which the seven candidates for the school committee have been invited to speak. The League has sent a questionnaire to these candidates, all of whom are unopposed at the coming city election, requesting that they express their views on specific things they hope to accomplish, their opinion as to how Newton can provide educational opportunity most effectively and economically to meet present-day needs, and to what extent the schools should be called upon to economize further in the event greater curtailment of the city by donating gifts of clothing. The week of October 21st has been designated by Mr. Julius E. so Warren, Superintendent of Schools, with the co-operation of Schools, with the co-operation of the principals.

The clothing drive is conducted by the Thrift Center of Newton and the clothing goes out on requisition through the social agencies to the needy of the city. Last view of the committee of the com The Newton League of Women

Most persons today seem to have very little interest in local government. Their thoughts are directed upon war conditions and lits effect upon their own personal living problems. There is a general tendency to let well enough alone and where things are moving along with little disssatisfaction to maintain the existing order of things.

This attitude is one result of the fact that there are but six contests upon the ballot at the coming election. Chief among these is of course, the mayoralty situation. But in addition there are only two contests for positions as alderman-at-large and but three for Ward aldermen. There are for Ward aldermen. There are no contests for the school com-mittee for the first time in the memory of Newton voters.

Some weeks ago the League of Women Voters of Newton, a non-partisan organization, believed that an opportunity should be given to Newton voters to hear the candidates for the school committee present their views and accordingly a rally was proposed, prior to which the candidates were invited to reply to a question-

Grid Game Of Year At Lynn Bowl

Unbeaten Newton and Lynn Classical Teams In Night Game

The leading schoolboy football game of the week-end will be staged tomorrow night, weather permitting, when the undefeated Newton High and Lynn Classical elevens clash under the lights of Manning Bowl, Lynn. It will be Newton's first experience playing nights yet the effectiveness of the lighting system is such that most teams find little difference than playing in daylight hours. The Lynn Classical outfit, the only undefeated and untied team of its class in eastern Massachusetts will be the favored eleven by a narrow margin. Newton, undefeated but tied once, although the underdog, is rarin' to go and if victorious the outcome would not be too surprising a result.

victorious the outcome would not be too surprising a result.

Lynn Classical is heading the parade for state championship honors by a considerable margin with Newton in second place standing for the first time in many many years. Whether or not the gruelling 6-6 battle with Everett last week toughened the orange and black squad for this week's affair or softened them will be proved at Lynn. Physically, with the exception of a few of the members of the squad the locals are up to par. Mentally their spirits are being bolstered by the feeling that no team could be more stubborn than Everett last week and that they can win.

Lynn has a smart, deceptive team with a good line, several hard running and shifty backs, and a potent forward passing attack. An end, a centre and a tackle are Classical line standouts with Boley Dancewicz the scintillating backfield star ably abetted be too surprising a result.

Double Holiday On Armistice Day For Teacher's Institute

Joy smote the hearts of Newton school children this week when it was learned that an additional day's vacation would be given them over the Armistice Day holiday. November 11th coming on Tuesday the Newton School Committee granted a school holiday on Iday. November 11th coming on Tuesday the Newton School Committee granted a school holiday on Monday, Nov. 10th, in order that Newton teachers might hold a convention. The convention, designated as the Newton Teachers Institute, will be the first held in this city. The school holiday will be restricted to the school children as attendance of members of the teaching staff will be required at the convention.

A drop of nearly two hundred students attending the Newton Trade School was reported by Superintendent Julius E. Warren. The drop is largely due to the taking over of the machine shop course by the Navy department and to the increased opportunities for employment. Where almost 800 attended last year the present enrollment figures are 595.

Want Freight Truck Ban On Washington St.

A petition bearing the names of 250 residents in the neighborhood of Washington st. from Commonwealth ave. to Lower Falls asking the prohibition of "freight trucking" was received at city hall last week by Mayor Paul M. Goddard. The petition describes the situation as unbearable.

A letter accompanied the petition from Ernest L. Nichols of 21 Angier circle, stating that "the situation has become more unbearable, so that many of my neighbors and friends who are seriously affected by this condition have thought it best to go on record remonstrating against the present practice and demanding a revision of our traffic laws, so that freight trucking will be prohibited. Through the kind services of Mrs. Albert Lavitt of Angier circle we have readily obtained the signatures of approximately 250 taxpayers and voters, all of whom are vitally affected and who demand relief from this nuisance."

Rupert C. Thompson, chairman of the welfare committee, has anounced that all men returning from service will be contacted and 20-operation will be given with the re-employment committees of the local draft boards to ensure a job for every man. The next meeting of the general committee will be held on Nov. 25th at the Newton Co-operative Bank, Newton Vision Post Office or the Transportation Section, Room 418, Boston Post Office.

City Must Rezone Land Near Park

The forthcoming construction of a half-million dollar plant in the Nonantum section of Newton was announced yesterday by the Newton Chamber of Commerce. The factory, which will employ 250 persons, will be erected for the production of hydraulic pumps and fluid motors for the United States Navy. The building and the machine equipment will be owned by the United States government and will be operated by the Zentih Products Company of 58 Chestnut st., West Newton. The manufacture to be done will be at the request of the Bureau of Ships at Washington, D. C.

The building, a one story concrete structure, will be erected on land selected for the site near the Charles River Metropolitan reservation and bounded on the west by Allison Park and on the south and east by land now in the manufacturing zone. The site, owned by the Rohmer Wool Scouring Company, in the rear of Los Angeles and California sts., is in a general residence zone. The city government has received a petition for a change to that of manufacturing privileges and a hearing on the matter has been assigned for Nov. 5th.

Further specifications of the building to be erected show that it will be without windows and air conditioned throughout. Brick and steel will also be part of its construction. The plant will be artificially lighted throughout. The first unit of the proposed factory will be 120 feet by 240 feet, a total area of 24,000 square feet. Plans provide for increasing the area in size to 240 feet on each side.

Hearing on Petition For Waban Bus Line

A public hearing has been assigned for Tuesday noon, October 28th, by the State Department of Public Utilities on a petition for an extension of bus service by a direct route between Waban and Cleveland Circle. The petition was filed some time ago by a group of citizens headed by Henry I. Morrison of Waban.

The present bus service from Waban to Cleveland Circle leaves Beacon st. at Woodward and after being routed through Woodward. Lincoln and Centre sts. rejoins Beacon st. at Newton Centre and thence to Cleveland Circle. The petitioners seek bus service on Beacon st. between Waban square and Newton Centre square.

Several attempts were made in years past for service in this vicinity but favorable action was not taken by the city government or the Middlesex & Boston Street railway.

(Editor's Note—The following is the third and last installment in a series of articles dealing with the use of substitutes in the automobile industry. The article is by Harlow H. Curtice, Buick official and applied to the ficial, and applies to the automo tive industry in general.)

Sometimes the optional materials developed have been adopted. Sometimes their adoption had to be deferred because the cost of commercial production was prohibitive in normal times. Often a choice among a number of optional steels, all equal in performance, hinged upon relative ease of machining, availability of a component metal, or some other factor which, forcing a decision in peacetime becomes relatively unimportant in time of national emergency.

As one of our research men expressed it recently: "Nothing beats an emergency for making minds emerge from the ruts of habit." The re-examination of habits, now going on in our industry, will force into the automobile many technological changes which, under normal conditions of peace time economy, may have had to wait for years for a chance to play their part in automotive evolution.

Use of Plastics
We have heard much in recent years about the increasingly important functions of plastics in our daily lives. Little has been said, however, about the intimate inter-relation of the plastics and automotive industries:
Plastics, as we all know, are man-made substitutes for such natural things as horn, bone, wood, stone, metals, etc. We seldom think of them as substitutes for natural gums or resins; yet,

Without that plastic, it has been said, the mass production of electric starter and ignition equipment for the automobile would not have been possible.

Moreover, without the mass-produced automobile as a large consumer of this synthetic product, the history of the plastic industry would have been a different story.

It has been said often that the uses of plastics will increase rapidly in automobiles because of our industry's efforts to curtail use of scarce metals in decorative applications, where we have made the greatest savings in strategic materials. Such an increase, if it comes, will be an acceleration of a trend rather than the introduction of an untried novelty.

It has been estimated that the composite 1941 automobile contained 110 plastic parts with a total of more than 225 possible applications, and that the composite car of 1942 will show an increase to 120 parts. Apparently our engineers are adapting plastics only to those automotive uses to which they can be adapted without im-to those automotive uses to which they can be adapted without im-pairment of value. Even in the decorative field we have avoided pairment of value. Even in the decorative field we have avoided the use of anything which might be termed "ersatz."

Usually, in discussions of automotive applications of plastics, the two largest such applications are overlooked. This is odd because one or the other is always immediately in front of the eyes. Looking at an automobile, one looks at its glossy surface, a sheet of plastic with which the car is coated. Looking out of an automobile, one looks through the invisible plastic sheets incorporated in safety glass.

Both of these plastics were peacetime fruits of wartime research. The solvents employed in the first successful synthetic lacquers used on automobiles were incidental and useless by-products of a chemical process used to manufacture explosives in World War I. And the use of plastic and glass laminations for windshields was introduced in military airplanes in that same war.

Greatest Strides in Hard Times

The greatest strides in automotive evolution have always come in periods following general economic dislocation. The techniques of subjecting sheet steel to deep draws were introduced on equipment which had been used in arms manufacture. The motorcar makers adapted these techniques to their manufacturing processes. The steel makers responded to the resultant new demands by divising deep-drawing steel sheets. As more and ever more sheet steel was required for the automobile, which was rapidly evolving into an all-steel vehicle, the steel industry was revolutionized eventually by the perfection of that amazing machine, the continuous wide-strip rolling mill, which turns out sheets in quantities that would have been unbelievable a 'little more than ten years ago. Greatest Strides in Hard Times years ago.

With the applied powder metallurgy, solid metal objects can be amazingly produced through the use of pressure and controlled atmosphere and without the use of melting heat. This new technique, advanced rapidly by automotive engineers in recent months, has already contributed a number of ordnance parts to the nation's arsenal and seems destined to become important in industry in the next decade.

A curious sidelight on our adoption of bearings made by this process is that a saving of strategic metals was incidentally effected. By substituting thin the strategic metals was incidentally effected.

This is the pragmatic approach, an approach peculiarly American. It is part of the native tinkering tradition which has made us unique as a nation. To those who make that approach to problems, the idea "shoddy substitute" inherent in the word "ersatz" is naturally repugnant.

We do not need that foreign word in our vocabulary. We have such reputable words as "alternate" and "optional." And as for "substitute," isn't that the fellow who not infrequently scores the winning touchdown?

Parish Players Open New Season With "Murray Hill"

The Parish Players of Newton Highlands will open their 1941-42 season with the presentation comedy, by Leslie Howard on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, October 28th and 29th at the Parish House of St. Paul's Church. "Murray Hill" is a lively incongruous mixture of the gravely aristocratic and modern freedom, set to lines which are the essence of wit. Its story revolves about a young woman who is being trained for the spinsterhood by two maiden aunts who live in the "Murray Hill" section of New York. The plot is too complicated to warrant a brief resume and to tell the details would be to spoil in advance a delightful evening's entertainment.

The cast of this sparkling comedy includes such well-known local Thespians as: Mrs. Ralph Barbour, Mrs. Henry Skelton, Mrs. Violet Connors, Miss Elsa Badger.

The Goddard Administration

For the past two years the city govern-ment of Newton has been headed by Mayor Newton's mayor promised the fullest co-operation with the Board of Aldermen and various department heads. That promise has been kept. The Mayor has maintained close supervision over the financial expenditures of the city, every one of which must originate on executive recommendation before being considered by the Aldermen.

The New Naval Factory

The announcement of the proposed construction of a new factory in Nonantum for the manufacture of naval equipment is of major importance to Newton. It is the type of industry that is exceptionally welcome here. Employing well over two hundred persons, creating additional tax revenue and purchasing power for Newton residents, and being an integral part of national defense the city government should not hesitate to amend the ordinances necessary to permit manufacturing on the land selected for the site of the plant. The site adjoins present manufacturing property and on two other sides are the river and Allison playground. With these natural barriers there can be no grounds for objection on the basis of future extension of manufacturing to areas which are more properly suited for residential construction.

There are numerous other pledges and promises which Mr. Goddard made during the campaign. They have been fulfilled. We believe that Newton voters will place the stamp of approval upon the existing policies of the present city government which have brought a lower tax rate, and improved city services at the coming municipal election. It has been said "Newton's problem is to make 'good government' better." That can be done by re-electing Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

A Tragic Situation

The Woodward case presents many aspects of a tragic situation. Fundamentally the state was responsible for permitting the youth to remain outside the protection of proper supervision after well-defined tendencies had been noted. Our state laws are fundamentally based upon a humaneness which is calculated to protect and maintain the best interests of society with due consideration for individual as well as collective rights. The atrocious murder of a 15-year-old girl resulted, followed by the confession of the youth. A plea for commutation of the mandatory death sentence attendant to such confession is to be entered before the Gov-ernor and his Council. Executive clem-ency or completion of the death penalty will not condone or remove the results of the Whatever action taken in the case is one which transcends all man-made laws, for the situation is one in which Divine guidance alone can be of assistance to all those directly involved.

The Sinking of Our Ships

It is beginning to become a frequent oc-currence to note in the daily press the sinking of another United States ship on the high seas. Lives of our sailors have been With the avowed intention of defending our right to trade and travel by sea this result was inevitable. There seems to be little doubt in the minds of most persons that each incident brings the nation a step closer to actual conflict and participation in the war which seems destined to be waged for many, many months to come. Unless unexpected and unforseen changes take place the road upon which we are traveling is clear. Our sole purpose should be to control, supervise and direct all our energies and re-sources for the best interests of the nation

Newton Forum Among Recipients of Roosevelt

"Now, under the impact of the defense emergency," writes Pres-ident Roosevelt on September 2nd, "I am convinced that it is more important than ever that people be encouraged freely to as-semble to discuss their common problems. Indeed, this is one of problems. Indeed, this is one of the freedoms we are determined problems. Indeed, this is one of the freedoms we are determined to defend."

In his letter to Commissioner Studebaker, recently forwarded to forum directors throughout the country, the President continues to give his support to "Forums and study-discussion groups as democratic means of developing public understanding of pressing public issues." He expressed his special concern that communities provide opportunities for adults and students to acquire "soundly based judgments" through forum programs provided by "non-partisan educational auspices."

The receipt of the letter was timely for the Newton Community Forum whose 1941-1942 program and organization seem to meet well the President's criteria for forums. The program focuses attention upon the problems of war and peace. The President particularly favors those forums who plan and execute their programs on a pay-as-you-go basis, without benefit of public appropriation of funds. The Newton Forum has earned a national reputation as one organized and run by co-operating citizens without allocated public funds and supported entirely by membership fees. Memberships are obtainable through any member of the steering committee of 45, through John M. Tomb, 167 Lake ave., Newton Centre, chairman of the membership committee, or through Walter M. Taylor of Newton High School, executive secretary of the Forum.

Then, in about 20 minutes he outlined very effectively that the main trouble with conditions in our Government today was that the business men did not take the interest in civic problems and in the Government that they should. He said that too often business people paid no attention to the individuals selected to represent them in their city, their state, or their national Government, that in many cases ability to do the job was given no consideration.

the abilities of the present mem-bers of the Board are so apparent that, as in previous campaigns, the result will be overwhelming.

An interesting situation exists in Ward 5 where the growth of the Oak Hill section has brought a fourth angle into what formerly used to be a three-cornered village agreement mutually understood. Upper Falls, Waban and Newton Highlands have all been represented on the Board of Aldermen. Oak Hill is requesting representation—not perhaps as a unituit at least among some individuals. One section of the Ward, it so obvious, will not be represented by a resident of its own section, which from the technical standpoint is not vital at all. An Alderman from Waban, the Highlands or Upper Falls can be as much of a representative of Oak Hill as a resident of that section.

It becomes obvious then that, as in other campaigns of the past, Alderman John Temperley is the target. But some times the target aimed at escapes and other prey fall by the wayside. The political polyscope would not know. It is not sufficiently powerful enough to see that far into the future but it will watch with interest the result

Among the three Ward aldermanic contests the outstanding one is in Ward 1 where the newly elected member of the Board, Donald L. Gibbs, is changing over from an at-large seat to the Ward position held for several years by Alderman Edward Fahey. Former Alderman Jaimes P. Akins is Gibbs' opponent. With Alderman Barwise and Fahey supporting Gibbs and having selected him to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Major Lee, it will be interesting to note the vote in this ward on election day.

Newton-EVERETT.

In the most spectacular game in years at Dickinson stadium, Newtonville, last Saturday a "never-say-die" Newton High football team came from behind to tie Everett High, 6-6, in the closing minutes of play. Everett stepped out to a 6-0 lead in the third period when Rudy Romboli, scarlet backfield ace, got away for the only time in the game, on a 73 yard touchdown run. Throughout the afternoon the Newton linesmen and backs had repeatedly stopped the Everett threat. The attempted placement goal was low. Rom-

After the roll call for the number present from each of the parlishes, Mr. George Wainwright, president of the Service League was introduced. He spoke of the work being accomplished and the aims of the League.

Bishop Sherrill was then introduced and spoke of the value of the League in the communities. He told of his work as chairman of the Episcopal Chaplains in the Army and Navy. In his plea to build spiritual values throughout the nation, the Bishop said "It is possible to win the war and lose our spiritual ideals. It is also possible to lose the war and win our spiritual well being."

Bishop Sherrill made a special plea for friends and relatives to write the boys at Army Camps and in the Navy to cheer them up. The boys often become homesick and despondent if they do not hear. Frequent letters help to keep their spirits high.

Quoting a letter from an Episcopal Chaplain with the Army in Iceland, Bishop Sherrill emphasized the need for books, magazines, spring wound victrolas and records being gathered to send to the boys in service in isolated places.

The next gathering of the Men's Skyrice and the Polace of the Service League was introduced, the field and then closing minutes of play. Everett stepped out the hird period when Rudy Romboli, scarlet back-field ace, got away for the only time in the game, on a 73 yard touchdown run. Kicking from the goalline a hurried punt slid off the kicker's foot and bounded around on the 20-yard line. Bill Hooper, with his back to the goal, scooped up the ball, turned and streaked down the sideline as Everett tacklers hemmed him in. Hooper eluded them and crossed the goalline but had stepped out of bounds at the 12. Norcross again relieved Hobson who had returned to the line.

We picked two winners in Lynn Classical over Leominster and Weymouth over Brookline. The scores? We figured Classical to score at least twice but we did not believe Leominster would show enough offense to keep in the game. The 13 to 12 Classical edge almost made us look bad again. We gave Weymouth a slight edge, settling for a point margin. The final score was 28-7. What a team little Weymouth has for nineteen straight victories.

The Engineering department was granted an additional $200 for automobile maintenance. Chairman Jamieson told the Board that this department had always expended the least for auto maintenance and had established the lowest mileage cost records of any department. Some of the cars, he said, had been refused "stickers" because of treadless tires and the appropriation was necessary for and piston ring replace

The sum of $250 was appropriated for the telephone account at city hall. The board was told that the balance of $765 remaining on October first was insufficient for the three months to the end of the year. A sum of $880 additional was approved for bus transportation of WPA workers to Camp Devens. Aldermen Schipper pointed out that this amount was less than in previous months because the workers would soon be on a four-day week because of weather conditions.

The first score against the Watch City eleven came after seven plays in the first period. Roberts ran the kickoff back to the Newton 35 and a series of line plays by Kiley and Marovitz advanced the ball to the Waltham 37. A Riley to Avery pass for 17 yards shook the six-foot four inch Newton end free for the score. Another Kiley to Avery pass to counted the point. Shortly after the following kickoff Avery blocked a Waltham punt which was recovered behind the goalline for a safety.

In the final period Kiley set up the second Newton touchdown to the Waltham 30. Roberts got away for 20 yards and then Taylor tossed a flat pass to Roberts for the score. Roberts plunged over for the extra point.

Dried Decoratives Add Cheerful Note to Home

Whether it is the modern equivalent of the Harvest Festival of the ancients, or just a pleasant custom, the practice of decorating the home with long-lasting arrangements of bright berries, fancy grasses, gay gourds, vivid foliage or colorful ears of Aztec Corn brings the sparkle of autumn colors and the tang of autumn air within the reach of us all, city dweller and suburbanite alike. Autumn is the time of color, and Little-Tree Farms in Framingham Centre, has colorful decoratives in abundance from which you can make the centerpiece, mantel decoratives in abundance from which you can make the centerpiece, mantel decoration or basket that has just the right effect. Graceful sprays of Bittersweet, shocks of multicolored Aztec Corn, fuzzy tufts of decorative grasses, carefully prepared seed pods, specially dried flowers—these and more await your selection, all priced amazingly low. Open every day until dark, Little-Tree Farms are on Pleasant st. (Rout 30), just off the Worcester Pike in Framingham Centre.

American Guild Service At Eliot Church Tuesday

The American Guild of Organists is a national association of organists, having a membership of nearly 6000. Its objects are the elevation of the organist's profession, the improvement of its members, technically and theoretically, the presentation to the public of worthy organ music, and the support and betterment of the support and betterment of church music. Being non-sectarian in its nature, it receives general support from our churches. It provides many free organ recitals by organists of standing, and, in co-operation with the various churches, holds public services of worship in which perfection of liturgy and music is especially sought.

Such a service is to be held under the auspices of Massachusetts Chapter, the local branch of the Guild, by four representative choirs of the City of Newton, at The Eliot Church in Newton, on the evening of Tuesday, October 28, 1941, at 8.00 o'clock. The participating Choirs are those of Trinity Church in Newton Center, The Second Church in Newton, The Union Church in Waban and The Eliot Church in Newton. The incidental organ numbers are to be played by guest organists who are members of the Guild. General support of this enterprise is well merited, and the public is most cordially invited to attend. pecially sought.

JOHN W. QUILTY

CHARLES R. HECTOR

Charles R. Hector, noted radio band leader, died at his home 1817 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale, on Wednesday, October 15. Mr. Hector, who was in his 49th year, in was born in Hoboken, New Jersey, the son of Charles and Bertha Knop Hector. He had resided in Newton for 15 years. He studied violin in Germany and entered the Moabitt Clinic in Berlin at the age of 18 to prepare for a medical career. At the clinic he formed an orchestra which toured the world. On returning to Germany he became a violinist with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. He was orchestra leader at the St. James Theatre in Boston for nine years and later was on a coast to coast radio program. He was the originator of simple swing music. He was musical director for Station WEEI until on account of a heart ailment he retired from active work a few months ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Suzanne B. Hector. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Richard P. McClintock officiated. Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery. Bus transportation facilities for Oak Hill school children attending the Weeks Junior High School at Newton Centre are sought in a motion adopted by the Oak Hill Improvement Association at its meeting on Tuesday night. The School Committee will be requested to provide the facilities for children who are required to walk too great a distance to regular bus lines.

The Association also voted to

The Association also voted to request the city to install street lights on Wheeler rd. which extends from Parker st. to the Oak Hill School. The Postal Department will be asked to provide two more boxes in the district. A discussion was held on the desirability of relocating the course and deepening the brook near Vine st. but no action was taken.

passing over his own candidacy briefly devoted the major part of his remarks to a tribute of the administration of Mayor Goddard and a denunciation of the candidacy of ex-Mayor Childs, under whom he had served. Among those who addressed the gathering of more than a hundred persons were the three candidates for Alderman-1-large from Ward 5, Alderman John Temperley, Alderman Howard Whitmore and Wendell R. Bauckman. Others who spoke were Aldermen George John W. Quilty of 74 West Pine st., Auburndale, died at his home on Wednesday, October 15, following a short illness. Mr. Quilty, who was in his 84th year, was born in Newton, the son of John M. and Bridget (Costello) Quilty and resided here during his entire life. He was a retired employee of the Newton Street Department, and a member of the Democratic Ward and City Committee. He was an active worker in the forming of Corpus Christi Parish in Auburndale and was wendell R. Bauckman. Others who spoke were Aldermen George E. Rawson and Warner Eustis of Ward 7, unopposed candidates for re-election. President Norman Hall introduced the speaker.

Among interesting developments of the municipal campaign is that for Ward Alderman in Ward I. Ward Alderman Edward Fahey is a candidate for alderman-at-large and Alderman-atlarge and Alderman. His opponent is former Ward Alderman Gibbs was nominated to his position by Alderman-at-large John E. Barwise and Ward Alderman Fahey, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Major Richard I. Lee.

Deny Request for Six Lots on Towle Estate And for a Nursing Home

And for a Nursing Home

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday several petitions for variances of the zonging ordinances were rejected. Foremost of these was that seeking to permit the former Towle estate on Franklin st., Newton to be cut up into six house lots.

Originally the petition was presented by Henley A. Brown to provide for seven lots and when the number was reduced to six many persons in the neighborhood withdrew their objections. At the hearing on the matter several tweeks ago State Representative Clarence C. Colby, representing nearby property owners, did not oppose the six-lot plan but urged that Franklin st. be widened at it is intersection with Waverley ave.

Alderman George E. Rawson of Ward 7, chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee stated that it was the unanimous opinion of the committee that the six-lot plan would not be "in keeping with the high grade residential aspects of the vicinity." The six-lot plan would provide five lots meeting zoning requirements and one, on which an old house now stands, which would be smaller. Chairman Rawson added that it "would be a bad arrangement—the owners should conform to the requirements." Without changes of the ordinances five lots of required measurement may be laid out.

Alderman Contest

In Ward 5 Close

The political polyscope focuses upon the city election next Tues-day when Newton voters will elect those who are to be constituted those who are to be constituted as the city government for the next two years. The widespread lack of interest is due to the fact that there are but 36 candidates for the twenty-nine offices on the ballot. There are no contests for the seven positions on the school committee which in times past has greatly stimulated interest in the election. There are but three contests for the seven positions as Ward Aldermen and but two contests for the fourteen places as Aldermen - at - Large. And of course, the mayoralty contest.

The mayoralty contest arouses chief interest, as natural, yet there is seemingly much less interest than two years ago. At that time it will be remembered there were four candidates in the field and in some quarters the defeat of Mayor Childs by Mayor Goddard is attributed to that fact. In the election next Tuesday the voters will express their choice between the two men.

Mayor Childs has always achieved a personal popularity that has carried him through many political battles and the presence of his name upon the ballot is worth thousands of votes without turning a hand or making a telephone call. (Continued on page 4)

Change Building Laws For Navy

To Permit Larger Areas Within Fire Walls of Certain Buildings

In connection with the erection of a manufacturing plant in Nonantum by the United States Navy, Department Public Buildings Commissioner, Arthur Campbell, has recommended a change in the Newton building code. The change is essential Commissioner Campbell stated in his letter accompanying the recommendation to the Board of Aldermen to permit the "building to be built."

The change would permit the erection of a manufacturing building not more than one story or 25 feet in height to have a larger area between fire walls than at present is allowed. The proposed change will be considered by the Aldermen in connection with the request to change the zone of land upon which the plant is to be located from general residence to one of manufacturing status. The changes in the Japanese government during the past few years have been by the military

How good are your eyes?

If you can see easily and clearly. you're lucky. But statistics prove the odds are against it. If you're 20, the chances are 3 to 1 your eyes are imperfect, 4 to 1 if you're 30, and 10 to 1 if you're over 50.

One of the surest ways to protect your sight and guard against eyestrain is to have the proper light in your home.

To read in comfort, you need proper light in every lamp. Actually, such light costs very little. So why take chances with your eyes?

It Is Your Duty To Vote

Next Tuesday voters of Newton will express their preference for candidates to be elected to conduct the government of the city for the next two years. We are not as greatly concerned as to the outcome of the election as we are over the apparent lack of interest among Newton citizens in carrying out their duty to ballot. Indications in gen-eral point to a fairly light vote as to the matter of percentage, and no system of free government can long endure when installed by a minority. We trust that every register-ed voter will do his duty and ballot next Tuesday, despite the fact that there are but very few contested places upon the ballot.

Chief interest in the election naturally centers around the renewal of the contest for the office of Mayor, between present Mayor Paul M. Goddard and former Mayor Edwin O. Childs. We supported and worked for the election of Mayor Goddard two years go. We do the same this election.

The facts upon the record are clear. And the campaign is being conducted upon a personal appeal by both candidates upon their respective records. Under a mandate of the people on referendum at the state election a year ago the two-platoon system was installed in the fire department. Agitation for its adoption by the city had long been before Mayor Childs and the Aldermen. Mayor Childs had indicated sentiment for the two platon system but account of the two platon system but account the two platons are the system of the system and the system of the syst the two platoon system but requested a greater number of additional men and a greater operating cost than the Aldermen would approve. When the voters insisted upon the two-platoon system Mayor Goddard and other city officials co-operated to evolve a plan which called for less than half of the men originally sought and at an operating cost that was absorbed in the city expense without increasing the tax rate.

A similar situation existed with the day-off-in-six for the police department. In years past this privilege had been sought by the police force under Mayor Childs. The latter could not or did not see the way clear. Mayor Goddard again worked upon plans for improved conditions in the police department without too excessive a burden on the city. Other city employees found a co-opera-tive attitude upon the part of the Mayor in the establishment of a municipal credit union which in a few short months has shown its financial stability by raising the limit of loans and declaring a dividend. There has also been a partial reclassification of salaries of city hall employees in order to aries of city hall employees in order to eliminate outstanding differences in pay for similar work.

But one might say these things have benefited the city employee, but what about the average citizen. There is an even longer record of achievement in the interests of the citizen and taxpayer. In the first place administrative costs have been reduced, despite the addition of increased services to an extent equal to more than $350,000 together with a reduction of about half a million dolextent equal to more than $350,000 together with a reduction of about half a million dol-with a reduction of about half a million dollars in the city's net debt. All with the result of a successive reduction in the tax rate for the past two years of $1.00 in 1940 and $1.20 in 1941.

The introduction of a 30-mile speed limit has resulted in giving Newton first rank in accident prevention. Month after month Newton has stood high in the state and nation of cities in its population class. The introduction of cities in its population class. The centage of votes cast increases. tion of cities in its population class. The Welfare Department has been organized during the past year into a department which is recognized by state and federal officials. Allotment of funds of the federal government for welfare work was endangered by the continuation of the department under its former status. A Newton defense council, made necessary by the ever-threatening nearness of war, has been established to work with the Newton Committee of Public Safety. And on the record goes. Whenever there has been a job to do Mayor Goddard has pitched in and tackled it. His administration has been a good one for the city of Newton. There is no question of it and no necessity or reason for a change. On Tuesday the voters will answer the question—"Newton's problem is one of making good government better." That will be done by Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

There is every indication that both the Ward 6 Aldermen Henderson Inches and Joseph B. Jamieson have little to the centage of votes cast increases.

There is every indication that both the Ward 6 Aldermen-Henderson Inches and Joseph B. Jamieson have little to fear from their opponents. The Ghosts and Goblins Are Stirring Tomorrow evening is Hallowe'en. That traditional evening of childish fun and mis-chief when ghosts and goblins run rampant through the back yards, front yards, over fences, rapping at the windows and cutting up, generally speaking. The Hallowe'en problem has always been one of controlling the natural exuberance and mischievous impishness of youth at the point where normal ordinary fun ends and wanton, malicious destruction of property begins. There is a hap-py medium. And the answer lies in parental control and supervision every bit as much as in every problem of child development.

Some years ago the Boston police department arranged a Hallowe'en party for childred, many of whom were without that parental check rein which is a vital necessity on Witches' Eve, and the idea has spread until several thousands of youngsters have found their natural energies and enthusiasm with personal property into an evening of wholesome activity and fun.

The Newton Recreation department is to be congratulated upon its sponsorship of a similar idea in the Newtons. Tomorrow evening in six of the localities of the city will be parties for youngsters from the first grade up through junior high school age. Incidentally at that age our youtth have supposedly developed a greater sense of civic responsibility and we trust that this will be proved tomorrow in the main. The active cooperation of groups of citizens in various sections stamps the evening of fun as a community enterprise. Many parents and Newton residents will be grateful for the friendly and neighborly assumption of the details of the parties by these civic and parentally conscious persons.

should report their findings, and make such recommendations as their experience prompts. Under Mayor Goddard the city operates under a balanced budget. Contingency funds provide for "after the budget" appropriations the sexcluding such expenditures from the following year's levy. Efficient and business-like administration has made economy possible, without sacrifice of services or unfairness to employees. Equitable salary adjustments have been made which have produced contentment, bettered morale, and hold out incentives for future recognition. A true spirit of cooperation exists in all departments. All of this and much more have been accomplished in two years, and the tax-rate has been reduced by $2.20. Put another way, it means the city is being operated $360,000 per year more economically than in 1938 and 1939.

Besides the mayoralty, there is only one other contest of real city-wide importance. In Ward Five two most excellent men are seeking election and re-election in a three-way campaign. Howard Whitmore, Jr., was appointed to "Five Days on Mt. Ida" was the title that attracted many Newton readers of the Boston Transcript, the other night, and they were much disappointed to find that it was some insignificant Mt. Ida, near the scene of the Trojan War, instead of the important elevation in Newton.

Miss Elizabeth Perrine Coppins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Coppins, and Mr. Walter Hiram Barker were married Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, corner of Centre st. and Newtonville ave.

The 90th birthday of Mrs. Lucy Gay Brackett was remembered by her many friends and relatives on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at her residence on Waverley ave. She has resided on Waverley ave. for over 65 years. She sacrificed two sons on the altar of her country. Four generations of the family were present at the reception.

A smart, well-drilled Lynn Classical High School team, outstanding contender for state dampionship football honors, rode to a 20-0 victory over the previously undefeated Newton High eleven last Friday night under the lights of Manning Bowl, Lynn. It was Newton's first venture at night football and though the lights did not prove a handicap it was apparent that the orange and black did not measure up to its potentialities, nor to the standard of play shown in the Everett game the week previous. Neither was it the loss of the services of two regulars, Guy Munroe at halfback and Larry Tempesta at right end.

Substitutes Alden Haffermehl and Dick Hay carried their share of the burden.

The answer lay in the perfection of the Lynn team, possessed of a fast-charging line and a dazzling set of backs, led by Boley Dancewicz, considered by many as the peer of schoolboy backs. His ability and uncanny accuracy as a forward passer was akin to his running with the ball. Repeatedly he would sweep the Newton end for goodly gains, aided by superb interference. His mates in the Lynn backfield, Tom Costley, Ray McNulty and Ernie Savory drove through the line to find holes which the Lynn forwards had made. To the more than 15,000 persons in the bowl it was apparent which was the better team on Friday night. It cannot be said that Newton did not threaten. Gordon Hobson, Charlie French, Haffermehl, George Salmon, George Norcross and others in the McDowell coached backfield gave their all, with little avail.

In the line Dick Lowry at centre; Ken McCarthy, Dick Boulter and Frank Brock at guards; Bill Healey and Bill Kalousdian the tackles, and Lennie Morrisey and Dick Hay on the wings played themselves out in a vain attempt to stem the tide. And it was no little tribute to learn that after the game Coach Joyce of Lynn stated that he would swap any three of his backs (presumably not including Dancewicz) for Charley French. Lynn's superiority is found in statistics of the game which gave them thirteen first downs to four for Newton. Their passes, due to Dancewicz' ease in spotting uncovered receivers, were frequently completed.

The Game

Lynn took to the air early in the first period with Haffermehl the guest speaker at the November fourth meeting of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel. Mrs. Hay will also speak to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newton Centre Methodist Church on November fifth.

wicz to Savory toss, being completed in the end zone for the last 12 yards of the needed distance. Newton rushed through to spoil Simiarowsky's third placekicke try. In the last two minutes of the game George Norcross threw ten passes, completing four for a gain of 35 yards but Lynn had the Newton receivers covered closely and dropped them in their tracks. As the game ended Newton had lost the balloon downs to Lynn on the Lynn 45-yard stripe.

With more than 15,000 persons in the stands, 14,400 representing paid admissions, it was the largest crowd ever to see a football game in Manning Bowl. The attendance even surpassed that of the annual Thanksgiving Day clash between Lynn English and Classical in one of those long-existing intercity rivalries. Incidentally it was the largest Newton officials reporting a ticket sale of more than 3,000 tickets here before Friday afternoon.

Charles J. Connick presided at the Poetry Evening Thursday and introduced his friend Robert P. T. Coffin, Pulitzer prize winner, whose poems he described as an antidote to gloom. Mr. Coffin spoke of being "at home" in Newton through his intimacy with Mr. Connick and because of the number of Newton boys attending Bowdoin College. To him poetry meant the combination of two factors, expressed in such poems as "Hound on Church Steps." Average life supplied subjects of wide interest. The boy was poetic timber. Among other poems he read "The Rocker," "How to Make a Willow Whistle," and "The Horse." If the eyes of the horse placed so if ar apart can see at once east, west, north and south. He said that Maine was a state of grace. She raises smart men and exports them. In his travels he in found through the west many whose ancestry was traced to
